

Short description of what you did for your own sorting implementation

- I implemented insertion sort

Any observations from the profiling data

- As the input size increased, the % share of the frontend bound decreased and any issues you encountered during the lab

- I did not run into any issues while running jobs in the server